BANQUET TO MR. MYTTON

Complimentary Banquet to Retiring Bank Manager

AT THE IMPERIAL HOTEL

Some Interesting Speeches Made by Those Present.

"An enterprising citizen and an all around good fellow" was the unanimous verdict of the jury who tried H. F. Mytton, the retiring manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. The trial took place on Monday night. The dining room of the Imperial hotel was the court room and J. E. McAllister manager of the B. C. Copper company's smelter was the presiding judge, while W. M. Law assisted him in preserving order and seeing that all the jurors answered the roll call. Those present: W. M. Law, G. R. Naden, Arthur H. Lawder, A. N. Pelly, Geo. A. Rendell, J. L. White, Ed. W. Bishop, Randolph Stuart, W. G. H. Belt, A. M. Whiteside, Frederic Keffer, J. E. McAllister, H. F. Mytton, M. F. Madden, W. E. Hodges, Dr. G. M. Foster, W. Allison, Edward G. Warren, R. P. Williams, Dr. O. S. Oppenheimer, R. H. Anderson, Dr. G. S. Gordon, W. T. Smith, Duncan McIntosh, William Fowler, Walter E. Segsworth, H. Allan, Turner, Julius Ehrlich and Duncan Ross.

Under the most adverse circumstances, it would have been difficult to return an unfavorable verdict against Mr. Mytton but through the good things which the Imperial provided everyone was at peace with himself and bank managers.

During the progress of the banquet a telegram was received from H. E. McDonnell of the C. P. R. freight department. Mr. McDonnell sent his best regards to Mr. Mytton, wished him every success in Regina, told him that Regina people were short sighted and that in consequence he was sending by express a memento which Mr. Mytton could wear in front of his hat so that the good people of Regina could see it. The memento was brought in and it turned out to be a huge hook, weight about 500 pounds and ornamented after the fashion of the fly which Mr. Mytton wears in front of his hat 365 days in the year.

Mr. McAllister, the chairman, proposed the toast to the King which was enthusiastically received and followed with the toast to the guest of the evening. In proposing this toast the chairman complimented Mr. Mytton upon his promotion and extended his sympathy to Mr. Allison who was to succeed him. The trouble with Mr. Mytton was that he was a good banker and Greenwood couldn't keep him, but with the mines and smelters running full blast, with proper conditions for the economic exploitation of the low grade bodies of ores, Greenwood soon would be entitled to the very best the bank could give and after a period of ranching, Mr. Mytton would probably be returned to the larger Greenwood.

Mr. Mytton in reply thanked them one and all for the enthusiastic way in which they had received the toast to himself and for the many kindnesses shown him during his 18 months' residence in Greenwood. He had changed his opinion of Greenwood in that time. He thought he had come to a mining camp on the down grade; he was leaving a busy, growing town on the up grade.

In the banking business one had to move from place to place and he was reminded of that beautiful story about "ships that pass in the night."

Mr. Law, "You mean chips that pass in the night?" (loud laughter)

Mr. Mytton continuing said that in all the changes he had made, he regretted most keenly leaving Greenwood. The promotion was a substantial one and he would have been foolish to refuse it, but he was sorry to leave a town where he had spent the most prosperous eighteen months of his life. He was going to a country where mining ceased to trouble and the weary are at rest, and as a good Canadian he would have to do his share in building up that growing part of the Dominion. He regretted leaving British Columbia for the first time since coming to Canada and he particularly regretted leaving Greenwood where there was per capita more good fellows than in any other town he had been in.

Geo. R. Naden then proposed a toast to the mining and commercial interests coupling with it the names of W. G. H. Belt, W. Allison and W. M. Law.

Mr. Belt as a brother banker expressed regret at Mr. Mytton's departure. The relations between the banks here had always been pleasant. He referred to the rapid growth of the Canadian Bank of Commerce which was not to be wondered at when it had such a brilliant triune of financiers as Mytton, Cox and Walker.

Mr. Allison agreed with the chairman that he would have a most difficult time if he endeavored to follow in all of Mr. Mytton's footsteps. He would assure them however that he already liked Greenwood and would endeavor to do his share in promoting its best interests.

Mr. Law said that they were sometimes discouraged, they sometimes feared neighboring towns, but today all acknowledged that Greenwood was the commercial metropolis of the Boundary.

He referred to the rapid development in high grade mining and gave Mr. Mytton credit for appreciating its importance and encouraging those who had a showing and wanted to develop it. The future never looked brighter and he believed that Greenwood would soon be the largest city in the interior of B. C.

Duncan Ross proposed the mining and smelting industries, coupling with the toast the names of Frederic Keffer, Duncan McIntosh, Mark F. Madden of Chicago and J. E. McAllister.

Mr. Keffer also expressed regret that Mr. Mytton was leaving Greenwood. He was reminded of the gentleman who had lost his wife and engraved upon the tombstone erected to her memory, "The light of my life has gone out". Shortly afterwards he married again and a wag added to the inscription but "I've struck another match" with Mr. Mytton the light of their banking life went out; with the coming of Mr. Allison they had struck another match. His only hope was that when they struck the match it would light (loud laughter). Mr. Keffer then referred to the mining industry. He thought the Crow's Nest Pass Coal company were doing the best they could to supply the demands of the smelters. The trouble was the smelters had grown too fast for the company. With copper at a good price, with no labor troubles and with a full and regular supply of coke, Boundary would become the greatest copper producing camp in North America.

Duncan McIntosh stated that the first night he had met Mr. Mytton, that gentleman had sung the song, "You can renew your note with a note again." He had never found it necessary to do this, but Mr. Mytton had always been a good friend of legitimate enterprise in Greenwood. He agreed with Mr. Keffer that the Crow's Nest Pass Coal company was doing its best, the fault lay with the smelters which had grown too quickly. He believed however that the coal reserves should be thrown open.

Mr. Madden said he could not enlighten those present regarding the mineral resources of this country. They knew more about that than he did but he would urge upon them the desirability of making known to the world what they had in the Boundary. Here were some of the richest mines in the world, mines like the Providence and Elkhorn and Defiance and big bodies like the Mother Lode and mines at Phoenix. The Boundary had the most glorious climate he was ever in and some of the most charming scenery. Back in Chicago where he lived were many men who wanted to go somewhere for a holiday and didn't know where to go, men anxious to make investments and didn't know what to invest in. He knew of no more delightful trip than that to the Boundary and of no more tempting investments than those offered in the Boundary. What the people of Greenwood wanted to do was to let the world know what they had here. They wanted to take a leaf of Chicago's book and blow their own horn a little more.

Continuing Mr. Madden stated that Mr. Mytton was gradually growing wiser, he was getting nearer Chicago, there is where most good fellows go and there is where Mr. Mytton ought to be. He again referred to the wonderful resources of this district and the great need of using more printer's ink in making known these resources.

Mr. McAllister, as a smelter man was satisfied that under proper conditions this could be made the greatest mining district in the continent. With a reduction in the cost of living, with a reduction in transportation charges and with many other improvements along the line of making living here as cheap as in the east, there was no reason why wages should not come down. He didn't want to be considered an advocate of low wages because he was not, and he believed that wages should not be disturbed under present conditions but those conditions could be so improved that a working man could live better and save more under a lower wage than he does today.

Mr. Pelly proposed a toast to the ladies and Mr. Rendell responded.

A toast was drunk in honor of Wm. Fowler, the father of high grade mining in Greenwood who briefly responded.

Julius Ehrlich, president of the Greenwood Board of Trade, and Mr. Mytton's successor in that office, in an interesting speech told of the good work done by Mr. Mytton as president of the Board. Since February 1902 up to the present, he was a regular attendant at meetings of the board, served on many important committees, succeeded in adding to the membership and in instilling new life and interests in the work of the Board.

Mr. Mytton in closing again thanked those present for the many too flattering things said of him. He wished them every success and he believed that Greenwood would yet be a large and important business centre.

Auld Lang Syne and God Save the King brought the banquet to a close.

ANOTHER BIG STRIKE

On the Providence—Rich Ore in Lower Level.

THREE HIGH-GRADE MINES

Wonderful Development on Providence Creek Properties.

Providence, Elkhorn, Defiance. These three high grade mines, situated on Providence Creek, adjoining the northern limits of the city and less than two miles from the business centre, this week attracted the chief attention in Greenwood's high grade mining world. Theories that may apply to other high grade camps, are knocked into cocked hats when used in connection with these mines. There are no veins lost there, they do not even pinch, the values increase and the veins widen.

Each week the Providence becomes more and more of a wonder. On June 1st when the final payment was made, the owners were satisfied that before the ore in sight was mined out they would secure a handsome return on their investment, but this week, the vein was encountered richer and stronger than ever at the 180 foot level. The working shaft followed the vein to the 125 foot level where a good deal of rich ore was taken from the stopes. The shaft was continued more vertical than the vein an additional 55 feet. A cross cut was then started to tap the vein and it was encountered in twelve feet. The vein is fully 15 inches wide and is of at least as high value as at the 125 foot level. This strike demonstrates that high grade veins will go down in this district and it may go down a great depth since at the 180 foot level the vein has got beyond any surface influences.

Of course finding the vein richer and stronger than ever immeasurably adds to the value of the Providence mine. It gives over 50 feet of additional stoping and this with the various stopes on the other levels will furnish plenty of ore for many days to come. Last Saturday a carload of exceptionally rich ore was sent to the Trail smelter and another car of first class ore in almost ready for shipment.

And the Elkhorn is keeping pace with its neighbor. Two cars are now being loaded, one of first class ore which will be shipped to Trail and the other of second grade ore will be treated at the Sunset smelter. Messrs. Sutherland and McDonald have met with the most gratifying success in developing this property. The first class ore will net over $100 to the ton and there is plenty of it in sight. At present nine men are employed in stoping ore from the 84 foot level. At this level drifts have been run both ways 186 feet without a break in the vein. The vein averages 12 inches and sometimes widens out to 18 inches.

The shaft is now down 125 feet and will be continued another 25 feet. This will give the level of the Elkhorn brewery and a tunnel will be run to tap the shaft at this level so as to obviate the necessity of hoisting the ore. By taking ore out through the tunnel it will also make it easier to haul to the railway station. The shaft is also in ore.

In addition to the men employed under ground, three men are engaged in surface work. This week Mr. Sutherland discovered a cross lead which outcrops near the railway trestle and about 50 feet above the wagon road. The vein carries native silver and galena and will be developed.

The Defiance which is being developed by Wm. Fowler, is also looking well. As stated in the Times last week a four inch vein was encountered in the tunnel at a distance of about 40 feet from the mouth and almost immediately under an old working on the claim. The vein is clearly defined and assays $500 to the ton, the principal values being in silver. As water is at present coming in freely at that point, but will dry up in a few days, Mr. Fowler continued the tunnel to tap another old working further on where he expects to cut another vein of high grade ore. He also has several men at work prospecting on the surface. One party is working in a big capping, while another is sinking on quartz. It is not yet known how these showings will develop, but in any event the rich vein in the tunnel insures the success of the mine.

Last Tuesday a party comprising Mark F. Madden, of Chicago, H. F. Mytton and W. Allison, of the Bank of Commerce, A. N. Pelly and a Times representative, were the guests of Mr. Fowler at his comfortable quarters on the Defiance. The camp is prettily located on a grassy plateau on the brow of the hill overlooking Boundary Valley. The view from this point is simply superb, the air is bracing, the hospitality of the host was perfect; so that a delightful afternoon was spent. There is no prettier spot in the Boundary than Fowler's camp on the Defiance, and there is no more genial host than Mr. Fowler. Dinner was served by Mrs. Winters, who presides over the culinary department of the camp, and the vigor with which six hungry men attacked the good things provided was the best testimony that could be offered to the tempting merits of the meal.

Mr. Madden returned to Chicago today. During his visit here he secured an interest in the Gold Finch, owned by C. W. H. Sansom and took along with him an option on one-half interest in this promising property. Mr. Madden is so well satisfied with his investments in the Boundary that he is quite anxious to secure something else with merit for himself and friends in Chicago. His firm, Madden Bros., are in touch with capital in the big city and if the right proposition offers they will have no difficulty in securing the necessary capital.

The work of unwatering the Athelstan mine, in Wellington camp, three miles from Phoenix, is now practically completed, and foreman Oxley has a force of men at work prospecting the surface, where it is proposed to open glory holes for the economical extraction and shipment of the ore. There are large ore reserves in the underground workings. A most favorable freight and treatment rate has been made with the Montreal and Boston Copper Co.'s Sunset smelter at Boundary Falls, and within a short time it is expected that ore will be freighted to the Winnipeg spur of the C. P. R. whence it can be shipped by rail to the smelter. By that time the force of men employed will have been considerably increased.

W. T. Smith returned on Monday from Beaverdel where he has seven men at work on the Bell under the superintendence of R. C. Longly. Mr. Smith and J. D. Sword are working the Bell under a bond. Mr. Sword has gone to Prince of Wales Island, Alaska, to investigate a mining proposition.

A JOURNALISTIC PHARISEE

The Rossland Miner is owned by the Gooderman-Blackstock syndicate. This syndicate always had Tory inclinations and it naturally follows that the Rossland Miner is Tory and that its editor recently has never lost an opportunity to extol the name and exploit the fame of Hon. Richard McBride. The opportunities are not many and consequently other means must be used to show the genuine Tory character of the Rossland Miner and its editor and its loyalty to the good old party. The old trick of abusing the other side is resorted to. The result is certainly not without its amusing side. We find a newspaper whose graft was so notorious that it was recently the subject of stinging condemnation from a supreme court judge who characterized this sheet as a disgrace to Rossland and the province—this same Rossland Miner is found deprecating the fact that a large proportion of the provincial press is willing to advocate anything or anybody for money.

The Rossland Miner is a gross libeller as well as a grafter. Outside of the Rossland Miner and its editor, there are few newspapers or newspaper men in this province who are not innocent of such a serious charge. The press of British Columbia outside of a few newspapers like the Rossland Miner, which have fallen into the hands of corporations and who are always thanking god that they are not like other newspapers, is as honest and as straightforward and as independent as the press of any country in the world. The Rossland Miner cannot bring the press of British Columbia down to its own level by hurling wild charges of venality.

It is unfortunate that in this contest where the people are divided into distinct parties, where neither party need be ashamed of the traditions of the past, where sound argument can be advanced by both sides that the few electors who read the Rossland Miner should be furnished unwarranted accusations against the newspapers of the province by about the only newspaper in the province which has come under the review of the supreme court for flagrant breaches of those rules of honesty and integrity which other newspapers are proud to follow.

IS THAT ALL?

The Spokesman-Review is responsible for the following:

"Mining men here look for a tremendous boom in the coal lands of southeast Kootenay, when the British Columbia government issues licenses to the prospectors who have been busy in that territory for some time this spring.

Numerous Spokane people have made application for coal licenses, each entitling them to develop a square mile of coal lands, and they are waiting anxiously for the British Columbia government at Victoria to say the word that will let them begin work. Andrew Laidlaw of Spokane has been busy since March taking up land for Spokane people. D. D. Birks has also been active there. Among the prominent people who have made applications for licenses are ex-Senator George Turner, E. J. Roberts of the Empire State-Idaho company, Leo H. Long of the Lone Pine-Surprise company, A. B.

Irwin, Frank Watson of the Fisher Maiden mines, D. Mihills, O. G. Laberee, L. G. Demert, Conrad Wolf of the Foghorn mine, M. D. O'Shea of the Rankin saloon, E. L. Tate and Chas. Dawson of Tate & Dawson, Charles H. Fisher, mining broker; Henry F. Sorg of the Club saloon; W. E. Wing, photographer; Frank H. Chase of the International Trust company and Dr. C. E. Grove.

The initial cost of getting a license for 640 acres of coal lands is about $10 in fees, not counting the charges which the locator may make, and $50 for the government license for the first year. After that for four years the claimholder must pay an annual tax of 10 cents an acre, or $64 per claim, and at the end of five years he must prove up by paying $5 an acre for his coal land. His rights include coal, timber, surface and oil—practically everything except mineral in place.

The coal beds are of immense size, and they are already proven, in the case of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal company, to have the finest coaking coal in the west, if not in the world.

The mining men have been delayed in getting licenses by the troubles over the Canadian Pacific railway's claim to the coal lands in lieu of other grants given it for railway construction. However, its claim was extinguished by the recent act of the provincial legislature, and all that now remains is for the government to commence issuing licenses for the coal lands. That is expected to start any day."

Is that all? The people of British Columbia may have something to say about the coal lands of South East Kootenay. Public opinion was sufficient strong to force the legislature to pass Bill No. 16, which clearly stated that these lands should not pass into the hands of the C. P. R. and public opinion, if we mistake not, will be just as strong in protesting against giving these lands to Spokane speculators.

The administration and conservation of these and other public lands in this province will require the very careful attention of the government. So far as the interests of the province are concerned, it would be just as well that the C.P.R. should have these lands as a Spokane syndicate. Outside of a few bona fide prospectors who have been years in that district, who spent time and money in finding coal and oil and who made bona fide locations, there are no others entitled to much consideration in connection with the South East Kootenay lands.

It is definitely stated that a few men secured inside information through which they were able to apply for coal and oil prospecting licenses practically covering everything of value in the Blocks 4593 and 4594. Sixty applicants are represented by one man. In the event of licenses being granted, these applicants for a small consideration would transfer their rights to the men putting up the money and speculators could and are endeavoring to fraudulently obtain records covering practically everything of value.

The McBride government will make a serious blunder if it does not make haste slowly in dealing with the importunate fortune hunters who are clamoring for licenses. Any bona fide coal company anxious to develop coal mines should be given a reasonable lease, with the right of renewal and subject to such safe guards as would fully protect the interests of the province.

LIQUOR

Liquor License By-law.

HOTEL MEN INTERVIEWED

The City Council and Discuss Amendments.

There was a large attendance of members of the licensed victuallers association at the meeting of the city council on Monday evening when the by-law introduced by Ald. Kirkwood to amend the liquor license by-law was discussed. At present no saloon licenses are allowed but several of the places where liquor are sold are not running a dining room and consequently do not conform with the regulations of the liquor license by-law. In order to give these places an opportunity to live within the law, Ald. Kirkwood introduced a bylaw making provision to license so many saloons and so many hotels.

The Licensed Victuallers Association presented a petition setting forth the difficulties with which they had to contend and asking that no action be taken until times improved. This petition was supplemented by addresses from H. B. Madden, J. W. Nelson, Louis Greenwood, Thos. Pieckart, Thos. Walsh, Geo. H. Collins and others in which they gave figures to show that there was no money in the business at present and any further increase in the license fee would result in ruining some who had invested every dollar they had in the world in Greenwood. Ald. Kirkwood replied that the license fee under the new by-law had not yet been stated. He was not particular about the fee, but he was anxious that he as a license commissioner should not be called upon to grant hotel licenses to places that were not observing the law.

After some further discussion it was decided that as the change had to take place sometime, that the bylaw be passed to take effect January next, thus giving license holders six months notice of the change.

At Morrissey Mines.Preparing For Big Increase in Coke Production.

The output of coal from the Morrissey mines is gradually being increased and it is expected that it will soon reach 1,000 tons daily.

Coal bins of immense capacity to contain slack coal for manufacturing into coke will be constructed at the upper end of the coke ovens. They will be arranged that lowries can be run in under them to be filled with coal and drawn to the ovens. These bins are being built on a scale sufficiently large to contain the supplies of coal for not only the 250 coke ovens now being built, but also for the 500 additional ovens, construction of which will be commenced on completion of those now under way. Four hundred thousand feet of timber will be used in bin construction, some of which is already on the ground.

Fifty houses for employees will be erected at the coke ovens, near the new town of Morrissey Mines. Twenty-five of these will be constructed this summer and the balance next spring.

Work has been started on a water tank to contain 48,000 gallons, close to the boiler house.

Railway gangs are engaged in ballasting the line running up to the mines.

Has No Further Use for the So-Called Liberal-Conservative Party.

Considerable excitement has been caused in political circles in Kaslo by John Keen's withdrawal from the liberal-conservative party. He has sent in his resignation to the president of the Kaslo branch of the Provincial Liberal-Conservative union. His letter to the president reads as follows:

Kaslo, B. C., June 13th, 1903.

To the President, Kaslo Branch, L.-C.-U., Kaslo, B. C.

Dear Sir:—As in my opinion, the liberal-conservative party in this province have forfeited their title to the prefix to the name conservative, by their action during the general election in 1900 and their recent action during the session of the provincial house, I beg to withdraw my name from the roll of membership, and shall be glad to have an intimation from you that my request has been complied with.

Yours truly,

SOME DENTAL HINTS

Careful cleansing of the teeth is the foundation of all care of the mouth.

Rational care of the teeth and mouth seeks to free the cavity of the mouth of all foreign substance.

Tartar must be removed from time to time. Loose roots and stumps must be extracted. Decayed teeth must be filled, or treated and filled; or extracted.

Artificial substitutes must be inserted in place of natural teeth which have been lost.

The sooner a diseased tooth is treated the more rapidly, painlessly, and cheaper can it be filled. For this reason teeth should be thoroughly examined at least twice a year.

It is money well spent to have diseased roots and such as are still firmly implanted filled, and, where necessary, provided with artificial crowns.

NOTHING LIKE EXPERIENCE.

"One truth learned by actual experience does more good than ten experiences one hears about." Tell a man that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy will cure cholera morbus, and he will most likely forget it before the end of the day. Let him have a severe attack of that disease, feel that he is about to die, use this remedy, and learn from his own experience how quickly it gives relief, and he will remember it all his life.
